PINPOINT FEDERAL CREDIT UNION NEW BRANCH OFFICE

A Modern Headquarters Reflecting a Growing Brand

This 4,200-square-foot building serves as the corporate headquarters for the Credit Union, designed to showcase a “cutting-edge” aesthetic that reflects the client’s evolving brand. Beyond providing functional office space, the building acts as a visual landmark and marketing asset for the surrounding area. Security was a key design consideration, with the layout carefully planned to protect staff and visitors while maintaining a welcoming, professional atmosphere. The result is a building that balances innovation, safety, and brand presence.

ZIONS BANK
PROTOTYPING & NEW BRANCHES

Strategic Branch Modularization and Adaptability.

Zions Bank's primary objective was implementing a core branch design that guarantees a convenient and predictable customer experience while enabling site-specific customization. The standard layout was developed with intentional modularity, allowing seamless expansion to integrate additional services, dedicated offices, or a second-story for Regional Banks. This design approach created a repeatable solution that can be precisely tailored to the community's unique profile. Our partner, during their tenure at a previous architectural firm, successfully developed and deployed this flexible design across numerous Utah locations, ranging from Moab to Providence.

SERVICE 1ST CREDIT UNION NEW BRANCH OFFICE

New Technologies and Familiar Brand

This new branch was set out to offer a familiar banking experience while introducing new technology. Interactive Teller Machine (ITM) was seamlessly integrated with the standard credit union branch format. Design centered on using materials and a color palette that aligned with the existing brand, creating a cohesive look that feels both familiar and new. The result is a modern space that prioritizes the member's experience while staying true to the credit union's established identity.
